

Innovation Center Wins Interior Design Award

Lots of natural lighting, expansive views of Seattle's skyline and locally-sourced materials – including recycled wood and steel – lend the Innovation center a distinctive style that combines modern elegance with rustic elements. Garage doors of translucent glass separate office space from public areas, and meeting rooms and team areas encourage tenant collaboration. These characteristics earned McKinstry's green tech incubator the Design IN Mass award and have put it on track to achieve LEED® Gold certification.
